

Unknown

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com
Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 6:22 PM
To: Balash; Joseph R (GOV); Leighow; Sharon W (GOV); Leschper; Beth (GOV); Mason; Jenice L (GOV)
Cc: Tibbles; Micheel A (GOV); Perry; Kristina Y (GOV); Frank Bailey; Irwin; Tom E (DNR); Colberg; Talis J (LAW); Rutherford; Marty K (DNR); Havemeister; Franci A (DNR)
Subject: Re: letter to editor - Frontiersmen

Sounds good. I'll let janice know this should be scheduled asap.

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: "Balaeh, Joseph R (GOV)" <joe.balaeh@alaska.gov>

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 18:18:31

To: ExternalEmailgsp <gov.sarah@yahoo.com>, "Leighow, Sharon W (GOV)" <sharon.leighow@alaska.gov>, "Leschper, Beth (GOV)" <beth.leschper@alaska.gov>

Cc: "Tibbles, Michael A (GOV)" <mike.tibbles@alaska.gov>, "Perry, Kristina Y (GOV)" <kris.perry@alaska.gov>, Frank Bailey <ftb907@yahoo.com>, "Irwin, Tom E (DNR)" <tom.irwin@alaska.gov>, "Colberg, Talis J (LAW)" <talis.colberg@alaska.gov>, "Rutherford, Marty K (DNR)" <marty.rutherford@alaska.gov>, "Havemeister, Franci A (DNR)" <franci.havemeister@alaska.gov>

Subject: RE: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

-----Original Message-----

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com [mailto:gov.sarah@yahoo.com]

Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 6:06 PM

To: Balash, Joseph R (GOV); Leighow, Sharon W (GOV); Leschper, Beth (GOV)

Cc: Tibbles, Michael A (GOV); Perry, Kristins Y (GOV); Frank Bailey; Irwin, Tom E (DNR); Colberg, Talis J (LAW); Rutherford, Marty K (DNR); Havemeister, Franci A (DNR)

Subject: Re: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: "Balash, Joseph R (GOV)" <joe.balash@alaska.gov>

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 17:55:25

To: "Leighow, Sharon W (GOV)" <sharon.leighow@alaska.gov>, ExternalEmailgsp <gov.sarah@yahoo.com>, "Leschpsr, Bath (GOV)" <betb.leschpsr@alaska.gov>

Cc: "Tibbles, Michael A (GOV)" <mike.tibbles@alaska.gov>, "Perry, Kristina Y (GOV)" <kris.perry@alaska.gov>, Frank Bailey <ftb907@yahoo.com>, "Irwin, Tom E (DNR)" <tom.irwin@alaska.gov>

Subject: RE: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Governor:

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Joe

-----Original Message-----

From: Leighow, Sharon W (GOV)

Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 3:56 PM

To: ExternalEmailgsp; Leschper, Beth (GOV)

CC: Balash, Joseph R (GOV); Tibbles, Michael A (GOV); Perry, Kristina Y (GOV); Frank Bailey; Irwin, Tom E (DNR)

Subject: RE: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Governor-

At issue is the lawsuit over the Alaskan Grown logo. State claims ownership of the logo -

the Mat-Su chapter of the Alaska Farm Bureau tried to get a federal patent for it. Here is an article and an editorial from the Frontiersman that gives the history-

The question is at the heart of a lawsuit between the Alaska Department of Agriculture and the Mat-Su Chapter of the Alaska Farm Bureau. In a court decision handed down Monday, a judge found the state would suffer irreparable harm if the Mat-Su chapter proceeded with its attempt to get a federal trademark on the Alaska Grown logo.

The lawsuit began in February 2006 and this week's injunction came just days before the Alaska State Fair, where the Mat-Su Chapter of the Alaska Farm Bureau has a booth selling items emblazoned with the Alaska Grown logo.

The Alaska Grown program was started in 1986, according to the Alaska Grown Web site. Its logo was a creation of the Alaska Division of Agriculture and the Alaska Farmers and Stockgrowers Association. The Stockgrowers Association became the Alaska Farm Bureau. The logo is both a marketing tool and a certification mark that indicates food bearing the logo is produced by farmers who are a part of the program. Sweatshirts and stickers with the logo are marketing tools and so are not required to be produced in Alaska.

The farm marketing industry in Alaska is a $52 million business and Assistant Attorney General Steven Ross said that historically the state has allowed nonprofit farm organizations to use the logo for promotional purposes. The logo is used primarily on clothing the organizations sell and use for fundraising.

The state's position is that the state owns the Alaska Grown logo, Ross said. That means the Mat-Su Farm Bureau chapter cannot trademark what the state owns.

"It is a symbol of the Alaska Grown Program," Ross said, adding the Alaska Grown system was in place for nearly 20 years without problem.

Ross said the issue began in 2005 when the Mat-Su chapter tried to register the logo with the federal patent office.

The state asked representatives of the Mat-Su chapter to withdraw the federal trademark attempt and the Mat-Su Chapter refused, Ross said. The logo is registered with the state, but not at the federal level. If the Mat-Su federally trademarked the logo the state could lose control of how the logo is used.

"The state has rights in that logo and it has to protect the other people involved in the Alaska Grown program," Ross said.

The state has terminated the right for the Mat-Su Chapter to use the Alaska Grown logo and Monday's court finding grants a motion for injunctive relief, which is what the state requested, Ross said.

Politicians play dodgeball as ag industry bleeds

Published on Thursday, October 11, 2007 10:00 PM AKDT

The state and Mat-Su Chapter of the Alaska Farm Bureau seem no closer to settling a lawsuit hobbling an already shaky agriculture industry.

The Alaska Grown logo - the familiar, friendly green, yellow and blue emblem - should be fused to a large playground ball as every politician in the state is playing dodgeball with it.

The issue is ownership of the logo - who can use and profit from its use.

Advertisement

Few people outside the ag industry seem to understand the fierce tug-of-war over the logo. It's not surprising. There's been plenty of misinformation and accusations flying around.

There is also some agreement.

In the 1980s, a group of Alaska farmers and ranchers, and employees from various state and federal agencies, met to brainstorm ways to promote Alaska agriculture. Out of that meeting came the Alaska Grown logo, trademarked in 1985.

The agreement ends there.

Some say the state was chosen as caretaker of the logo. It was the state's job to ensure farm products bearing the logo are indeed Alaska grown. Some say the state was granted the logo itself. The state's lawsuit was filed after the Mat-Su Farm Bureau chapter applied for federal trademark rights to the logo. While this incensed folks at the state Division of Agriculture, the Farm Bureau group argues it only made the application when the division failed to police knock-offs of the logo. A division representative has denied that charge, claiming the chapter was impatient in its demands, and the state was dealing with illegal distributors.

At stake is a tidy sum of money earned - and I do mean earned - by the Mat-Su chapter and future income based on sales of non-food items bearing the logo.

When I say "tidy," that's by modest standards. Mat-Su Farm Bureau brought in a record groas profit of more than $65,000 at the recent Alaska State Fair in Palmer. A recent injunction forced ths Farm Bureau chapter to turn over its profits because the chapter is allegedly making money on a logo it does not own. Instead, the state thinks it should have money it did not earn.

Despite some posturing and the trademark application, the Alaska Farm Bureau makes no particular claim on the Alaska Grown logo. The Mat-Su chapter maintains it has the same claim to the logo as any of the other farm groups in the state. Its purpose for filing for the trademark was to protect the logo from those who would profit from it. The chapter is a nonprofit and uses funds earned to benefit the industry. It sells Alaska Grown T-shirts and sweatshirts to raise money for agricultural marketing efforts, farmland preservation, agricultural literacy and scholarships.

Even folks at the Diviaion of Agriculture would tell you the state spends less than it would like for ag marketing and education.

It makes sense for the state to ensure any other use of the logo is restricted to that which promotes Alaska agriculture. It doesn't make sense for the state, through endless legal wrangling, to financially crush a farm organization that has been working hard - perhaps harder than the state itself - to promote local agriculture. It is counterproductive to a struggling industry and smacks of vindictiveness.

The state has wasted thousands of dollars it could have used to promote agriculture, help the dairy industry or bolater agricultural literacy. The chapter has spent thousands of dollars it could ill afford and is threatened with loss of it profits from the Alaska Grown sales for years past - money already spent on the promotion of agriculture and defense of the lawsuit.

In the face of this travesty, the politicians - from the governor on down - dodge the ball, letting lawyers pass it back and forth instead of intervening with a just and reasonable solution outside the courtroom. Without such intervention, this wanton waste of resources will become another of the disasters that have plagued Alaska's agriculture.

-----Original Message-----

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com [mailto:gov.sarah@yahoo.com]

Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 2:19 PM

To: Leighow, Sharon W (GOV); Leschper, Beth (GOV)

Cc: Balash, Joseph R (GOV); Tibbles, Michael A (GOV); Perry, Kristina Y (GOV); Frank Bailey; Irwin, Tom E (DNR)

Subject: Fw: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Can anyone give me a aynopsia of this issue? What's the lawsuit about - how long haa it been pending - how did I acrew the farmers in this atate - did Franci ask for a cut of plant materials center - etc.

Ps. What does this have to do with the "Alaska Grown" button someone gave me at the fair that I pinned to my jacket...

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Mesaage-----

From: "Colberg, Talis J (LAW)" <talis.colberg@alaaka.gov>

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 14:02:10

To: ExternalEmailgsp <gov.sarah@yahoo.com>

Subject: RE: letter to editor - Frontieraman

Dear Governor Palin,

I am sorry to see this happening.

This is a case where I had to remove myself from participation. My couain, Mark Rempel, is a farmer and involved in the lawsuit. So, due to the conflict, I delegated all of my authority to Mr. Tillery. The attorney Tillery assigned to actually working the caae for the State of Alaska is a Mr. Steve Rosa in our Anchorage office. If you, or anyone from your office needs to talk about the legal status, details or policy decisions behind the case they should call Mr. Ross at 269-5278. I cannot be directly involved in this matter because of the conflict.

Talis

-----Original Message-----

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com [mailto:gov.aarah@yahoo.com]

Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 1:46 PM

To: Balash, Josepb R (GOV); Irwin, Tom E (DNR)

Cc: Rebfield, Karen J (GOV)

Subject: Fw: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Ugh. Jusy fyi

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 21:44:08

To: "K Psrry" <kris.perry@alaska.gov>, "Mike Tibbles" <mike.tibbles@alaska.gov>

Cc: "Frank Bailey" <ftb907@yahoo.com>

Subject: Fw: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Holy geez. Kris- plks give franci a head's up.

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: "Leighow, Sharon W (GOV)" <sharon.leighow@alaska.gov>

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 13:11:19

To: gov.sarah@yahoo.com

Subject: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Governor-

We are going to have Commissioner Irwin or Dick LaFever respond to this.

FYI

State works against farmers

Published on Thursday, October 18, 2007 10:27 PM AKDT

This is a message to Gov. Sarah Palin.

Your picture appeared on the front page of the Anchorage Daily News Oct. 15. You were wearing the Alaska Grown patch, sporting the logo you are suing the farmers for.

While supporting more tax on oil and gas, you are suing the farmers who produce a sustainable product for the state. Not only are the farmers being sued for their interest in promoting Alaska Grown, but you recently appointed Franci Havemeister as director to the Division of Agriculture. The only qualification she brought to the job was that she was your high school buddy. You passed up many more qualified people to choose her.

I thought the last administration was bad about appointing good ol' boys. Is it good ol' girls now? Franci didn't even know what the Plant Materials Center was when she became director, and I notice that you have zeroed the Plant Materials Center out of the budget for next year. It happens to be the single most important source of quality seed stock in the state and the single most important resource for farmers.

Wow, you really know how to cripple the farming industry in this state! Suppose you "win" the lawsuit against the farmers who have done so much to support Alaska Grown and make it popular. Without help and support from the farmers, the logo will probably wither and die because we will promote something else and make it popular too. What a shame! I can't wait for the public to learn that the Division of Agriculture has sent and received 45,000 e-mails condemning or concerning Alaska Grown.

Matanuska Maid and the state are directly responsible 100 percent for the failure of dairy farmers at Point MacKenzie. Yet you spend hundreds of thousands of state dollars to save Mat Maid, even though it is selling mostly Outside milk. I hope that you wear your logo with pride, as you have already caused Alaska farmers much grief with your lawsuit. You can't strong-arm us if we choose to abandon the promotion of Alaska Grown, and the logo won't be the same even if you do "win" the lawsuit. The agricultural community has already suffered losses of about $100,000 in legal fees to defend the logo. That amount makes the division's efforts even smaller because the Division of Agriculture has done nothing for farmers, nor do I expect it ever to with the contentious climate that now exists.

River Bean

Arctic Organics

Palmer

Sharon Leighow

Deputy Press Secretary

Deputy Communications Director

(907) 269-7450 Anchorage

(907) 465-4031 Juneau

(907) 240-7943 cell

Unknown

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com
Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 6:06 PM
To: Balash; Joseph R (GOV); Leighow; Sharon W (GOV); Leschper; Beth (GOV)
Cc: Tibbles; Michael A (GOV); Perry; Kristina Y (GOV); Frank Bailey; Irwin; Tom E (DNR); Colberg; Talis J (LAW); Rutherford; Marty K (DNR); Havemeister; Franci A (DNR)
Subject: Re: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: "Balash, Joseph R (GOV)" <joe.bslash@alaska.gov>

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 17:55:25

To: "Leighow, Sharon W (GOV)" <sharon.laighow@alaska.gov>, ExternalEmailgsp <gov.sarah@yahoo.com>, "Leschper, Beth (GOV)" <beth.leschper@alaska.gov>

Cc: "Tibbles, Michael A (GOV)" <mike.tibbles@alaska.gov>, "Perry, Kristina Y (GOV)" <kris.perry@alaska.gov>, Frank Bailey <ftb907@yahoo.com>, "Irwin, Tom E (DNR)" <tom.irwin@alaska.gov>

Subject: RE: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Governor:

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Joe

-----Original Message-----

From: Leighow, Sharon W (GOV)

Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 3:56 PM

To: ExternalEmailgsp; Leschper, Beth (GOV)

Cc: Balash, Joseph R (GOV); Tibbles, Michael A (GOV); Perry, Kristina Y (GOV); Frank Bailey; Irwin, Tom E (DNR)

Subject: RE: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Governor-

At issue is the lawsuit over the Alaskan Grown logo. State claims ownership of the logo - the Mat-Su chapter of the Alaska Farm Bureau tried to get a federal patent for it. Here is an article and an editorial from the Frontiersman that gives the history-

The question is at the heart of a lawsuit between the Alaska Department of Agriculture and the Mat-Su Chapter of the Alaska Farm Bureau. In a court decision handed down Monday, a judge found the state would suffer irreparable harm if the Mat-Su chapter proceeded with its attempt to get a federal trademark on the Alaska Grown logo.

The lawsuit began in February 2006 and this week's injunction came just days before the Alaska State Fair, where the Mat-Su Chapter of the Alaska Farm Bureau has a booth selling items emblazoned with the Alaska Grown logo.

The Alaska Grown program was started in 1986, according to the Alaska Grown Web site. Its logo was a creation of the Alaska Division of Agriculture and the Alaska Farmers and Stockgrowers Association. The Stockgrowers Association became the Alaska Farm Bureau. The logo is both a marketing tool and a certification mark that indicates food bearing the logo is produced by farmers who are a part of the program. Sweatshirts and stickers with the logo are marketing tools and so are not required to be produced in Alaska.

The farm marketing industry in Alaska is a $52 million business and Assistant Attorney General Steven Ross said that historically the state has allowed nonprofit farm organizations to use the logo for promotional purposes. The logo is used primarily on clothing the organizations sell and use for fundraising.

The state's position is that the state owns the Alaska Grown logo, Ross said. That means the Mat-Su Farm Bureau chapter cannot trademark what the state owns.

"It is a symbol of the Alaska Grown Program," Ross said, adding the Alaska Grown system was in place for nearly 20 years without problem.

Ross said the issue began in 2005 when the Mat-Su chapter tried to register the logo with the federal patent office.

The state asked representatives of the Mat-Su chapter to withdraw the federal trademark attempt and the Mat-Su Chapter refused, Ross said. The logo is registered with the state, but not at the federal level. If the Mat-Su federally trademarked the logo the state could lose control of how the logo is used.

"The state has rights in that logo and it has to protect the other people involved in the Alaska Grown program," Ross said.

The state has terminated the right for the Mat-Su Chapter to use the Alaska Grown logo and Monday's court finding grants a motion for injunctive relief, which is what the state requested, Ross said.

Politicians play dodgeball as ag industry bleeds

Published on Thursday, October 11, 2007 10:00 PM AKDT

The state and Mat-Su Chapter of the Alaska Farm Bureau seem no closer to settling a lawsuit hobbling an already shaky agriculture industry.

The Alaska Grown logo - the familiar, friendly green, yellow and blue emblem - should be fused to a large playground ball as every politician in the state is playing dodgeball with it.

The issue is ownership of the logo - who can use and profit from its use.

Advertisement

Few people outside the ag industry seem to understand the fierce tug-of-war over the logo. It's not surprising. There's been plenty of misinformation and accusations flying around.

There is also some agreement.

In the 1980s, a group of Alaska farmers and ranchers, and employees from various state and federal agencies, met to brainstorm ways to promote Alaska agriculture. Out of that meeting came the Alaska Grown logo, trademarked in 1985.

The agreement ends there.

Some say the state was chosen as caretaker of the logo. It was the state's job to ensure farm products bearing the logo are indeed Alaska grown. Some say the state was granted the logo itself. The state's lawsuit was filed after the Mat-Su Farm Bureau chapter applied for federal trademark rights to the logo. While this incensed folks at the state Division of Agriculture, the Farm Bureau group argues it only made the application when the division failed to police knock-offs of the logo. A division representative has denied that charge, claiming the chapter was impatient in its demands, and the state was dealing with illegal distributors.

At stake is a tidy sum of money earned - and I do mean earned - by the Mat-Su chapter and future income based on sales of non-food items bearing the logo.

When I say "tidy," that's by modest standards. Mat-Su Farm Bureau brought in a record gross profit of more than $65,000 at the recent Alaska State Fair in Palmer. A recent injunction forced the Farm Bureau chapter to turn over its profits because the chapter is allegedly making money on a logo it does not own. Instead, the state thinks it should have money it did not earn.

Despite some posturing and the trademark application, the Alaska Farm Bureau makes no particular claim on the Alaska Grown logo. The Mat-Su chapter maintains it has the same claim to the logo as any of the other farm groups in the state. Its purpose for filing for the trademark was to protect the logo from those who would profit from it. The chapter is a nonprofit and uses funds earned to benefit the industry. It sells Alaska Grown T-shirts and sweatshirts to raise money for agricultural marketing efforts, farmland preservation, agricultural literacy and scholarships.

Even folks at the Division of Agriculture would tell you the state spends less than it would like for ag marketing and education.

It makes sense for the state to ensure any other use of the logo is restricted to that which promotes Alaska agriculture. It doesn't make sense for the state, through endless legal wrangling, to financially crush a farm organization that has been working hard - perhaps harder than the state itself - to promote local agriculture. It is counterproductive to a struggling industry and smacks of vindictiveness.

The state has wasted thousands of dollars it could have used to promote agriculture, help the dairy industry or bolster agricultural literacy. The chapter has spent thousands of dollars it could ill afford and is threatened with loss of its profits from the Alaska Grown sales for years past - money already spent on the promotion of agriculture and defense of the lawsuit.

In the face of this travesty, the politicians - from the governor on down - dodge the ball, letting lawyers pass it back and forth instead of intervening with a just and reasonable solution outside the courtroom. Without such intervention, this wanton waste of resources will become another of the disasters that have plagued Alaska's agriculture.

-----Original Message-----

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com [mailto:gov.sarah@yahoo.com]

Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 2:19 PM

To: Leighow, Sharon W (GOV); Leschper, Beth (GOV)

Cc: Balash, Joseph R (GOV); Tibbles, Michael A (GOV); Perry, Kristina Y (GOV); Frank Bailsy; Irwin, Tom E (DNR)

Subject: Fw: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Can anyone give me a synopsis of this issue? What's the lawsuit about - how long has it been pending - how did I screw the farmers in this state - did Franci ask for a cut of plant materials center - etc.

Ps. What does this have to do with the "Alaska Grown" button someone gave me at the fair that I pinned to my jacket...

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: "Colberg, Talis J (LAW)" <talis.colberg@alaska.gov>

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 14:02:10

To: ExternalEmailgsp <gov.sarah@yahoo.com>

Subject: RE: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Dear Governor Palin,

I am sorry to see this happening.

This is a case where I had to remove myself from participation. My cousin, Mark Rempel, is a farmer and involved in the lawsuit. So, due to the conflict, I delegated all of my authority to Mr. Tillery. The attorney Tillery assigned to actually working the case for the State of Alaska is a Mr. Steve Ross in our Anchorage office. If you, or anyone from your office needs to talk about the legal status, details or policy decisions behind the case they should call Mr. Ross at 269-5278. I cannot be directly involved in this matter because of the conflict.

Talis

-----Original Message-----

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com [mailto:gov.sarah@yahoo.com]

Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 1:46 PM

To: Balash, Joseph R (GOV); Irwin, Tom E (DNR)
Cc: Rehfeld, Ksren J (GOV)
Subject: Fw: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Ugh. Jusy fyi

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 21:44:08

To: "K Perry" <kris.perry@alaska.gov>, "Mike Tibbles" <mike.tibbles@alaska.gov>

Cc: "Frank Bailey" <ftb907@yahoo.com>

Subject: Fw: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Holy geez. Kris- plks give franci a head's up.

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: "Leighow, Sharon W (GOV)" <sharon.leighow@alaska.gov>

Dste: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 13:11:19

To: gov.sarah@yahoo.com

Subject: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Governor-

We sre going to hsve Commissioner Irwin or Dick LaPever respond to this.

FYI

State works against farmers

Published on Thursday, October 18, 2007 10:27 PM AKDT

This is a message to Gov. Sarah Palin.

Your picture appeared on the front page of the Anchorage Daily News Oct. 15. You were wearing the Alaska Grown patch, sporting the logo you are suing the farmers for.

While supporting more tax on oil and gas, you are suing the farmers who produce a sustainable product for the state. Not only are the farmers being sued for their interest in promoting Alaska Grown, but you recently appointed Franci Havemeister as director to the Division of Agriculture. The only qualification she brought to the job was that she was your high school buddy. You passed up many more qualified people to choose her.

I thought the last administration was bad about appointing good ol' boys. Is it good ol' girls now? Franci didn't even know what the Plant Materials Center was when she became director, and I notice that you have zeroed the Plant Materials Center out of the budget for next year. It happens to be the single most important source of quality seed stock in the state and the single most important resource for farmers.

Wow, you really know how to cripple the farming industry in this state! Suppose you "win" the lawsuit against the farmers who have done so much to support Alaska Grown and make it popular. Without help and support from the farmers, the logo will probably wither and die because we will promote something else and make it popular too. What a shame! I can't wait for the public to learn that the Division of Agriculture has sent and received 45,000 e-mails condemning or concerning Alaska Grown.

Matanuska Maid and the state are directly responsible 100 percent for the failure of dairy farmers at Point MacKenzie. Yet you spend hundreds of thousands of state dollars to save Mat Maid, even though it is selling mostly Outside milk. I hope that you wear your logo with pride, as you have already caused Alaska farmers much grief with your lawsuit. You can't strong-arm us if we choose to abandon the promotion of Alaska Grown, and the logo won't be the same even if you do "win" the lawsuit. The agricultural community has already suffered losses of about $100,000 in legal fees to defend the logo. That amount makes the division's efforts even smaller because the Division of Agriculture has done nothing for farmers, nor do I expect it ever to with the contentious climate that now exists.

River Bean

Arctic Organics

Palmer

Sharon Leighow

Deputy Press Secretary

Deputy Communications Director

(907) 269-7450 Anchorage

(907) 465-4031 Juneau

(907) 240-7943 cell

Unknown

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com
Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 2:19 PM
To: Leighow; Sharon W (GOV); Leschper; Beth (GOV)
Cc: Balash; Joseph R (GOV); Tibbles; Michael A (GOV); Perry; Kristina Y (GOV); Frank Bailey; Irwin; Tom E (DNR)
Subject: Fw: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Can anyone give me a synopsis of this issue? What's the lawsuit about - how long has it been pending - how did I screw the farmers in this state - did Franci ask for a cut of plant materials center - etc.

Ps. What does thia have to do with the "Alaaka Grown" button aomeone gave me at the fair that I pinned to my jacket...

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: "Colberg, Talia J (LAW)" <talis.colberg@alaska.gov>

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 14:02:10

To: ExternalEmailgap <gov.sarah@yahoo.com>

Subject: RE: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Dear Governor Palin,

I am aorry to see this happening.

This ia a case where I had to remove myaalf from participation. My cousin, Mark Rempel, is a farmer and involved in the lawauit. So, due to the conflict, I delegated all of my authority to Mr. Tillery. The attorney Tillery assigned to actually working the case for the State of Alaska is a Mr. Steve Ross in our Anchorage office. If you, or anyone from your office needs to talk about the legal status, details or policy deciaions behind the case they should call Mr. Ross at 269-5278. I cannot be directly involved in this matter bscauae of the conflict.

Talis

-----Original Measage-----

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com [mailto:gov.sarah@yahoo.com]

Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 1:46 PM

To: Balaah, Joseph R (GOV); Irwin, Tom E (DNR)

Cc: Rehfeld, Karen J (GOV)

Subject: Fw: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Ugh. Jusy fyi

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 21:44:08

To: "K Perry" <kris.perry@alaska.gov>, "Mike Tibbles" <mike.tibbles@alaska.gov>

Cc: "Frank Bailey" <ftb907@yahoo.com>

Subject: Fw: letter to aditor - Frontiersman

Holy geez. Kris- plks give franci a head's up.

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: "Leighow, Sharon W (GOV)" <sharon.leighow@alaska.gov>

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 13:11:19

To: gov.sarah@yahoo.com

Subject: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Governor-

We are going to have Commissioner Irwin or Dick LaFever respond to this.

FYI

State worke against farmers

Published on Thursday, October 18, 2007 10:27 PM AKDT

This is a message to Gov. Sarah Palin.

Your picture appeared on the front page of the Anchorage Daily News Oct. 15. You were wearing the Alaska Grown patch, sporting the logo you are suing the farmers for.

While supporting more tax on oil and gas, you are suing the farmers who produce a sustainable product for the state. Not only are the farmers being sued for their interest in promoting Alaska Grown, but you recently appointed Franci Havemeister as director to the Division of Agriculture. The only qualification she brought to the job was that she was your high school buddy. You passed up many more qualified people to choose her.

I thought the last administration was bad about appointing good ol' boys. Is it good ol' girls now? Franci didn't even know what the Plant Materials Center was when she became director, and I notice that you have zeroed the Plant Materials Center out of the budget for next year. It happens to be the single most important source of quality seed stock in the state and the single most important resource for farmers.

Wow, you really know how to cripple the farming industry in this state! Suppose you "win" the lawsuit against the farmers who have done so much to support Alaska Grown and make it popular. Without help and support from the farmers, the logo will probably wither and die because we will promote something else and make it popular too. What a shame! I can't wait for the public to learn that the Division of Agriculture has sent and received 45,000 e-mails condemning or concerning Alaska Grown.

Matanuska Maid and the state are directly responsible 100 percent for the failure of dairy farmers at Point MacKenzie. Yet you spend hundreds of thousands of state dollars to save Mat Maid, even though it is selling mostly Outside milk. I hope that you wear your logo with pride, as you have already caused Alaska farmers much grief with your lawsuit. You can't strong-arm us if we choose to abandon the promotion of Alaska Grown, and the logo won't be the same even if you do "win" the lawsuit. The agricultural community has already suffered losses of about $100,000 in legal fees to defend the logo. That amount makes the division's efforts even smaller because the Division of Agriculture has done nothing for farmers, nor do I expect it ever to with the contentious climate that now exists.

River Bean

Arctic Organics

Palmer

Sharon Leighow

Deputy Press Secretary

Deputy Communications Director

(907) 269-7450 Anchorage

(907) 465-4031 Juneau

(907) 240-7943 cell

Unknown

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com
Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 1:46 PM
To: Balash; Joseph R (GOV); Irwin; Tom E (DNR)
Cc: Rehfeld; Karen J (GOV)
Subject: Fw: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Ugh. Jusy fyi

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular Ons

-----Original Message-----

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 21:44:08

To: "K Perry" <kris.perry@alaska.gov>, "Mike Tibbles" <mike.tibbles@alaska.gov>

Cc: "Frank Bailey" <ftb907@yahoo.com>

Subject: Fw: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Holy geez. Kris- plks give franci a head's up.

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: "Leighow, Sharon W (GOV)" <sharon.lsighow@alaska.gov>

Dats: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 13:11:19

To: gov.sarah@yahoo.com

Subject: letter to editor - Frontiersman

Governor-

We are going to have Commissioner Irwin or Dick LaFever respond to this.

FYI

State works against farmers

Published on Thursday, October 18, 2007 10:27 PM AKDT

This is a message to Gov. Sarah Palin.

Your picture appeared on the front page of the Anchorage Daily News Oct. 15. You were wearing the Alaska Grown patch, sporting the logo you are suing the farmers for.

While supporting more tax on oil and gas, you are suing the farmers who produce a sustainable product for the state. Not only are the farmers being sued for their interest in promoting Alaska Grown, but you recently appointed Franci Havensister as director to the Division of Agriculture. The only qualification she brought to the job was that she was your high school buddy. You passed up many more qualified people to choose her.

I thought the last administration was bad about appointing good ol' boys. Is it good ol' girls now? Franci didn't even know what the Plant Materials Center was when she became director, and I notice that you have zeroed the Plant Materials Center out of the budget for next year. It happens to be the single most important source of quality seed stock in the state and the single most important resource for farmers.

Wow, you really know how to cripple the farming industry in this state! Suppose you "win" the lawsuit against the farmers who have done so much to support Alaska Grown and make it popular. Without help and support from the farmers, the logo will probably wither and die because we will promote something else and make it popular too. What a sham! I can't wait for the public to learn that the Division of Agriculture has sent and received 45,000 e-mails condemning or concerning Alaska Grown.

Matanuska Maid and the state are directly responsible 100 percent for the failure of dairy farmers at Point MacKenzie. Yet you spend hundreds of thousands of state dollars to save Mat Maid, even though it is selling mostly Outside milk. I hope that you wear your logo with pride, as you have already caused Alaska farmers much grief with your lawsuit. You can't strong-arm us if we choose to abandon the promotion of Alaska Grown, and the logo won't be the same even if you do "win" the lawsuit. The agricultural community has already suffered losses of about $100,000 in legal fees to defend the logo. That amount makes the division's efforts even smaller because the Division of Agriculture has done nothing for farmers, nor do I expect it ever to with the contentious climate that now exists.

River Bean

Arctic Organics

Palmer

Sharon Leighow

Deputy Press Secretary

Deputy Communications Director

(907) 269-7450 Anchorage

(907) 465-4031 Juneau

(907) 240-7943 cell

Unknown

From: Ann Rautio [arautio@ecs.org]
Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 1:37 PM
To: Governor Sarah Palin (GOV sponsored)
Cc: Smith; Lynne M (GOV)
Subject: Request for Input for 2008 ECS National Forum

Dear Governor Palin:

As your state liaison to ECS, I'm writing to encourage you to mark your calendar for the 2008 ECS National Forum on Education Policy, June 30-July 2, in Austin, Texas, and to ask for your input. This year, to make the meeting as relevant to our constituents as possible, we are asking our commissioners to share key issues that you are currently facing in Alaska that you would like addressed at the ECS National Forum.

Your suggestions will directly impact the topics and discussion themes that will be woven throughout the Forum program. Please forward your ideas to me by close of business on October 26. Thanks very much.

Ann Rautio
Assistant Researcher, National Center for Learning and Citizenship
State Liaison to Alaska
Education Commission of the States
700 Broadway, Suite 1200
Denver, CO 80203-3460
<http://www.ecs.org>

Unknown

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com
Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 8:57 AM
To: Perry; Kristina Y (GOV); Mason; Janice L (GOV); Todd
Subject: Re: Governor's Arts Awards

Pls contact aryne on that.

And Todd says he's not going to AFN so someone needs to cover banquet and rhonda announcement for me afterall. Hopefully he already worked with you guys on his change-of-mind about attending. Maybe we could get his grandma to attend? I think he wouldn't mind- i'll cc him in.

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: "Perry, Kristina Y (GOV)" <kris.perry@alaska.gov>

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 08:32:57

To: ExternalEmailgsp <gov.sarah@yahoo.com>, "Mason, Janice L (GOV)" <janice.mason@alaska.gov>

Subject: RE: Governor's Arts Awards

This is an event that is in Fairbanks on the 26th of October, which would necessitate you staying up there another day/evening after your AFN speech on the 25th. Janice is working with Talis to attend on your behalf and I belisve she has already regretted your attendance.

-----Original Message-----

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com [mailto:gov.sarah@yahoo.com]

Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 8:24 AM

To: Perry, Kristina Y (GOV); Mason, Janice L (GOV)

Subject: Fw: Govsrnor's Arts Awards

Do u know what shes talking about?

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: <Aryne.K.Randall@wellsfargo.com>

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 11:24:27

To: <gov.sarah@yahoo.com>

Subject: Governor's Arts Awards

Good Morning Sarah!

The Arts Council has reservsd 2 seats for you at the Wells Fargo table if you attend.
Please let ms know what I should request for your dinner:

Beef Roulade

Coconut Lime Halibut

Roasted Root Vegetables

Thanks, Aryne J

Aryns Kay Randall

Assistant Vice President

Store Manager

581 W. Parks Highway

Wasilla, AK 99654

MAC K3235-011

907-376-6602

aryne.k.randall@wellsfargo.com

This message may contain confidential and/or privileged information. If you are not the addressee or authorized to receive this for the addressee, you must not use, copy, disclose, or take any action based on this message or any information herein. If you have received this message in error, please advise the sender immediately by reply e-mail and delete this message. Thank you for your cooperation.

Unknown

From: gov.sarah@yahoo.com
Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 7:44 AM
To: Katz; John W (GOV); Leschper; Beth (GOV); Irwin; Tom E (DNR); Rutherford; Marty K (DNR); Tibbles; Michael A (GOV)
Cc: Gelvin; Patrick S (DOR); Balash; Joseph R (GOV); Perry; Kristina Y (GOV); Tibbles; Michael A (GOV); Leighow; Sharon W (GOV)
Subject: Re: exporting

John- did Mike make sure Tom and Marty were in this loop? I didn't see their names on any cc's in the links of emails... and that's odd as they lead the gasline team. I haven't spoken with Mike yet about this issue- and I'm not sure within these links who wrote me a memo on the topic at the request of Mike?

I'll go ahead and cc in Tom and Marty and I'll ask Mike what the foundation is on this - it got confusing trying to follow the links.

Bottom line- did I say something wrong in this speech? What was it and who caught it, etc?

Sent from my BlackBerry® device from Cellular One

-----Original Message-----

From: "John Katz" <jwkatz@ALASKADC.org>

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 10:00:27

To: "Beth (GOV) Leschper" <beth.leschper@alaska.gov>

Cc: "Pat Galvin" <patrick_galvin@dnr.state.ak.us>, "Joseph Balash" <joe_balash@gov.state.ak.us>, "Kris Perry" <kris_perry@gov.state.ak.us>, "Michael Tibbles" <michael_tibbles@gov.state.ak.us>, "Sharon Leighow" <sharon_leighow@gov.state.ak.us>

Subject: RE: exporting

- P.S.

I noticed in today's media that British Gas is actively talking about exporting Alaska gas to the Pacific Rim. Quite rightly, they point to the transportation efficiencies that would be involved in a world wide system of trades and exchanges. sp;

Without belaboring the issue, we have been told in recent days by FERC, DOE, and Senator Murkowski's office that Congress would probably move quickly to foreclose such exports. I suspect that we would get a similar response from other nooks and crannies of DC if we asked the question. The reasons for this posture are political and optical; they have little to do with the merits.

I recognize that we can't = control what others say or what applications are filed under AGIA. = However, my recommendation is that Privileged or Personal Material Redacted
Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

You found it! I am forwarding a memo I drafted for the governor = at Mike Tibbles request. As you will note, it deals with exports and = the Jones Act. I don't know whether the governor has seen it as I = didn't transmit it directly to her.

I'm aware that British Gas might file an AGIA application relating to = gas exports and that we may then have to face the issue. I would = recommend, however, that Privileged or Personal Material Redacted
Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Thanks for following through on this.

PRIVILEGED & CONFIDENTIAL - =
ATTORNEY/CLIENT PRIVILEGE

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Please note that my email address has = changed. My new email address = is <mailto:jwkatz@alaskadc.org> jwkatz@alaskadc.org. = Thank you .

Please note that my email address has = changed. My new email address = is
<mailto:jwkatz@alaskadc.org> jwkatz@alaskadc.org. = Thank you .

>= >> On 10/17/2007 at 5:28 PM, in message <26DD787FB85C4048910C9A1D5= D86651A6AE863
@SOAJNUMSG01.soa.alaska.gov>, "Leschper, Beth (GOV)" = <beth.leschper@alaska.gov> wrote:

Could this be = it?

Beth

"Alaska is underway with a viable plan to construct a natural gas pipeline to transport North Slope natural gas to domestic and foreign markets.

Why is this such good news? Natural gas is the cleanest of all fossil fuels, and will help bridge our nation's transition to increased reliance on renewable energy sources. A natural gas pipeline can easily use many existing oil pipeline corridors, infrastructure and roads. This reduces impacts on sensitive Arctic environments by minimizing the footprint. Alaska is deeply committed to progress on building a natural gas pipeline.

Alaska recently enacted legislation that has commenced a competitive process for qualified applicants to propose a pipeline plan. To the best proposal, Alaska will contribute $500 million in state matching funds."

From: John Katz [mailto:jwkatz@ALASKADC.org]

Sent: Wednesday, October 17, 2007 1:18 PM

To: Leschper, Beth (GOV)

Subject: Re: exporting

I was told that there was a brief mention at the speech she gave to the Energy Forum in Anchorage this week. If this isn't sufficient information, I will go back to my source and ask for more.

Please note that my email address has changed. My new email address is <mailto:jwkatz@alaskadc.org> jwkatz@alaskadc.org. Thank you .

>> On 10/17/2007 at 5:09 PM, in message <26DD787FB85C4048910C9A1D5D86=651A6AE85D@SOAJNUMSG01.soa.alaska.gov>, "Leschper, Beth (GOV)" = <beth.leschper@alaska.gov> wrote:

John:

I'm trying to = figure out where the Governor mentioned exporting natural gas.

Do you = remember the source?

Beth = Leschper

Deputy = Communications Director

Office of the = Governor

State of = Alaska

907-465-3443

907-723-1321

&n= bsp;

Unknown

From: PARNELL, S (GOV sponsored) [/O=SOA/OU=FIRST ADMINISTRATIVE GROUP/CN=RECIPIENTS/CN=SRPARNELL1]

Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 7:35 PM

To: Serah Palin

Subject: FW: Eddia Burke got fired today

Did you see this? (I made it back to Anchor town late today.)

From:

Sent: Fri 10/19/2007 5:38 PM

To: PARNELL, S (GOV sponsored);

Subject: Eddie Burke got fired today

According to Dan Saddler, Eddie Burke was on the Aaron Sallbrig radio show today, explaining that ha got fired today. Apparently, the oil Industry was highly upset with Eddie because ha kept pleying the Jim Bowies/Bill Allen phone conversation. He said Dan Fagan went to the station maneger and said either Eddle goes or I go, and I'll take all of my eccounts with me.

11/9/2009

PRA_GSP01_0006792

Unknown

From: Governor Sarah Palin (GOV sponsored) [governor@alaska.gov]
Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 2:18 PM
To: Smith; Lynne M (GOV)
Subject: FW: Lyn McGee Joins Center for Women's Business Research

From: CfWBR Info [mailto:info@cfwbr.org]
Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 9:59 AM
To: CfWBR Info
Subject: NR: Lyn McGee Joins Center for Women's Business Research

Contact: Juanita M. Weaver
Director of Media & Strategic Alliances
Center for Women's Business Research
202-638-3060 x 719
jweaver@womensbusinessresearch.org

Release Date: October 19, 2007

Lyn McGee
Joins Center for Women's Business Research
As Director of Marketing and Communications

Washington, DC – The Center for Women's Business Research enounced today that Lyn Chamness McGee has joined the Center as director of marketing and communications. She will be the lead executive responsible for communicating the mission and accomplishments of the Center to a variety of audiences. Her first priorities will be enhancing the brand strategy and creating an interactive online presence for the Center.

Prior to joining the Center, McGee was a senior marketing officer at Ashoka: Innovators for the Public, a non-profit international organization that supports entrepreneurs solving social issues through large scale innovations. While in that position, she led their marketing communication strategies and fund raising campaigns.

11/9/2009

PRA_GSP01_0006793

"We are looking to Lyn to help us grow to the next level," said Margaret A. Smith, chair, Center for Women's Business Research. "Her wealth of experience in marketing and communications brings a fresh perspective and depth to our existing strategies. We welcome her to our senior staff."

Before joining Ashoke, McGee served as vice president of marketing for Telanix, a firm that uses emerging technologies to deliver call management solutions that make it easier for companies to participate in the global economy.

"It's exciting to work with an organization that is doing so much to advance the economic, social and political impact of women business owners," said Lyn McGee. "It forwards the cause of all women and helps shape a better society."

At MCI Communications, Inc., McGee held several positions over the course of her eleven years progressing from product manager of MCI's virtual voice service to a leadership position in sales where the organization she managed achieved a $15 million revenue goal.

McGee has fifteen years experience in the technology sector and has had a wide range of experiences in various sales and marketing roles. All of her experience has been focused on helping organizations use technology to improve their business operations, reach, and impact.

McGee is an avid outdoor enthusiast and recently completed her second sprint triathlon. She also volunteers in her parish community and as a Boy Scout den leader and a Girl Scout troop leader.

#

About the Center for Women's Business Research

The Center for Women's Business Research provides data-driven knowledge that advances the economic, social, and political impact of women business owners. We do this by setting the national agenda; creating insight on the status and achievements of women business owners; altering perceptions about the economic viability and progress of women-owned enterprises, and driving awareness of the economic and social impact of this vital business sector. For more information, visit www.womensbusinessresearch.org.

11/9/2009

PRA_GSP01_0006794

Unknown

From: Governor Sarah Palin (GOV sponsored) [governor@alaska.gov]
Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 10:04 AM
To: Smith; Lynne M (GOV)
Subject: FW: COHA Report: the current state of the OAS

From: Council on Hemispheric Affairs [mailto:mailinglist@coha.org]
Sent: Friday, October 19, 2007 10:00 AM
To: Governor Sarah Palin (GOV sponsored)
Subject: COHA Report: the current state of the OAS

A Council on Hemispheric Affairs Press Release

About Us Archives Forum Internships

The Organization of American States: On its Deathbed?

COHA - To Our Readers

Unfortunately, an older and unedited version of the COHA piece entitled "The OAS: On its Deathbed?" was inadvertently sent out to a very small cohort of COHA readers on October 17 before an error was discovered and the press run was immediately aborted. Due to a computer editing error, the author, Sean Bartlett did not catch that two different facts were spliced into one sentence. Jose Miguel Insulza, as a young man in his late twenties, was a political director in the Chilean Foreign Ministry under the Allende administration, eventually rising to the rank of foreign minister decades later under the second Frei Administration after returning from exile abroad during the Pinochet dictatorship. (He, of course, was not Chile's foreign minister under Allende as stated in the version that was sent in error). The error has been corrected and the author regrets this mistake.

- Should the OAS be reconstituted with Canada and the US as observer nations, or can the US revise its role as both a leader and an ally that respects its own limitations?
- Sovereign rights are no meager subject
- Latin America needs its freedom and autonomy outside the OAS in order for it to grow

Illness is not usually the equivalence of death. This aphorism is being applied by some to the health of the Organization of American States (OAS), the premiere regional organization and forum for the democratic nations of the Western Hemisphere. As the international political landscape has evolved from the Cold War to the Wars on Drugs and Terror, the United States, the OAS' proverbial elephant, has diverted much of its attention to events occurring outside of the region. Thus, today it almost seems to be a fallacy that as goes the U.S., so goes the OAS. In terms of investment and trade matters this may be a legitimate concern, but the long-term political, economic, and social thrust of the other Western Hemispheric nations does not seem to be adversely affected by a cut-back in U.S. attention to the region. In fact, many of them have thrived, with a number of them welcoming a lesser role for the U.S. because this will allow for pluralism, diversification, and experimentation now that Washington's often heavy hand has been lightened. However, a lesser role that has translated to the U.S.' virtual disappearance concerning hemispheric affairs in the last several years was not originally envisaged. The subsequent result has been a growing number of voices inviting inquiry as to the contemporary relevance of the OAS.

11/9/2009

PRA_GSP01_0006795

Full article...

This analysis was prepared by COHA Research Associate Sean Bartlett

Friday, October 19th, 2007 | Press release 07.72

The Council on Hemispheric Affairs, founded in 1975, is an independent, non-profit, non-partisan, tax-exempt research and information organization. It has been described on the Senate floor as being "one of the nation's most respected bodies of scholars and policy makers." For more information, please see our web page at www.coha.org; or contact our Washington offices by phone (202) 223-4975, fax (202) 223-4979, or email coha@coha.org.

If you no longer wish to receive our press releases, you may unsubscribe.